HEALTH SITE NIXED

BELLE GLADE — The county health department has turned down the location near the Water Works as a site for the proposed health center, and a new site must be found. City Commission was informed at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

A possible new site was offered by letter by the American Legion, at SE Ave. and SE 2nd St., with 135 feet fronting the former and 125 feet the latter, east of Legion Hall. Appointed as a committee to investigate the possibilities and meet with the health department officials to see if this site would be approved were City Manager Tom Carle, Commissioners Herman Close and Walter Ashley.

New Equipment
A sparkling array of new equipment was authorized for purchase, including a new Ford tractor from Hendry Co., a new Plymouth police car from Bert Roemer Motors, and a new motorcycle on trade-in from Glades Equipment Co. All bids for a new mower were rejected.

Acknowledgment of a contribution of $100 to the Palm Beach County Crippled Children's Association was read. President Thadde Whidden announced the Rotary District conference will be held in Fort Lauderdale Nov. 7-9.

Pahokee PTA In Membership Drive

PAHOKEE — A total of 597 members have been enrolled in the 1954-1955 membership drive of Pahokee PTA. Mrs. E. L. Pope, membership chairman, reported at Monday night's PTA meeting. A Cub Scout hut has been donated and deeded to Pahokee Cub Scouting. The building is located one-half block beyond the City Park at 134 Bacon Point Rd. The 10 x 30 building is in need of tar paper roofing and a partial concrete floor, with the immediate cost amounting to about $55, Mrs. Graham said.

Thirty dollars of this amount has been paid by the Cub Scouts sponsoring organization, the Pahokee Parent-Teacher Association, and will be used to purchase cement with which the Den Dads will lay the floor tomorrow afternoon, starting at 4 p. m.

The Cub grounds are being put in shape by some 40 cubs who are doing the raking, hoeing and cleaning.

Mrs. Graham reports there are two Cub Masters, ten Den Dads and 11 Den Mothers, and an Area Commissioner, backing the present Cub program.

The first session of two special Den Mothers' training classes will be held tomorrow in Belle Glade at the Methodist Church from 2 to 3 p. m. with George King, assistant Belle Glade district commissioner of Scouting as instructor.

If you need transportation to class tomorrow or desire any additional information, Mrs. Graham, at 7148, offers assistance.

GOOD FEED SITUATION

Most cattlemen in the Glades are well pleased over their winter feed situation, according to H. L. Speer, assistant county agent. Thanks to favorable water levels in September, pastures are in good condition and promising good fall and winter grazing. More corn and silage are stored in the county than before for winter feeding, Speer said.

Bylaw Revision, More Drs. New Board Member, Too

Two Days' Meetings Bring New 'Harmony'

BY JANE RIEKER
BELLE GLADE — A pledge of better cooperation between physicians, a new set of rules for treatment of emergency patients, and proposed revision of the bylaws of the medical staff "for the good of the hospital" were major developments at Belle Glade Memorial Hospital board meetings this week.

In the wake of a violent public uproar over the lack of medical treatment for an emergency patient last week, the board stirred itself to action Monday and Tuesday.

At week's end, after a series of meetings involving physicians, nursing and clerical staffs, an interested group of citizens, and a press protesting the lack of information emanating from the board, the hospital's governing body was hopeful of a new "harmony" at the hospital and between physicians.

Close Watch
The board has the word of the Belle Glade citizens who attended parts of the various sessions that the eye of the public would keep close watch on future relations between doctors serving the hospital, and on the workings of the hospital itself.

Present at one or both of the Monday meetings with the board were J. Marvin Unwin, invited by Board Chairman Herbert Beck; Mrs. William Thiebaud, chairman of the citizens' committee which brought Dr. J. Allen Baker to Belle Glade last spring; Mrs. Guy D. Wood, PTA; William Thiebaud, Lions member; William Graber, Chamber of Commerce; City Manager Tom Carle, Mrs. J. Allen Baker, and assorted members of the press.

Beck, George Royal, C. A. Thomas, and Fritz Stein were board members present, the only absence being that of Harold Rabin, who is convalescing at home. Hospital Administrator Donald Parke was in and out of the 11 hours of Monday sessions.

Guy, pastor of First Methodist Church, and James Merrill, interim pastor of First Baptist Church, officiating.

Little "Jimmy" died Wednesday at Children's Variety Hospital in Miami following a lengthy illness.

New Staff Applicant, 8 Specialists, Close

BELLE GLADE — Application for staff membership at Belle Glade Memorial Hospital, acceptance of eight West Palm Beach doctors on the courtesy staff, and the appointment of Herman Close as a new board member are among latest developments in the hospital news.

A local physician who hitherto has not been associated with the hospital has asked the board for admission, and his application has been turned over to the medical staff for action. Board Chairman Herbert Beck said yesterday.

Specialists
Beck added that the medical staff already had approved the courtesy affiliation of the eight West Palm Beach doctors. "This means that the hospital will now have the services of specialists," Beck said.

Doctors given privileges include: Dr. Alfred F. Henderson, neurology; Dr. John Patterson Greene, pediatrics; Dr. Carl Edwin Andrews, pediatrics - cardiac surgery; Dr. David William Martin, pediatrics; Dr. James E. Robinson, Jr., internal medicine and cardiology; Dr. John Bixby Nicholson, eye, ear, nose and throat; Dr. James C. White, internal medicine; Dr. Thomas Edward Daly, obstetrics and gynecology.

Herman Close was appointed effective Oct. 12 to the board, replacing George Royal, whose term expired June 3 of this year and who has been serving in the interim until a successor was (Continued On Page 5)

"Our Backyard"

Last week we published news of an unfortunate incident which occurred at Belle Glade Memorial Hospital, when an emergency patient went more than four hours without a doctor's attention.

The effect of this story was explosive throughout the Glades, but most particularly in the Belle Glade area. Some of the results it brought are to be read on Page One of this issue.

Happily enough, our readers reacted 10 to 1 in passing kind words our way for printing the story last week, rather than pussyfooting around a very touchy situation. The minority who clucked "Tch, tch," because we preferred to tell the public what happened to Patient Charlie York implied that we were "unjustifiably" stirring up "trouble" where it didn't concern us.

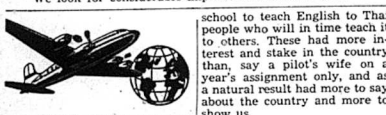

As we said when this newspaper expanded to cover the entire Glades area last Friday, the Glades is "our backyard." As area residents we are going to go right on helping to keep the backyard neat and tidy.

If we find any part of it has become messy and full of rubbish, we'll do our best to straighten it up, so that our Glades backyard will continue to be attractive to our guests and new neighbors from the rest of the U.S.

That goes for all the portions of "our backyard"—Belle Glade, Pahokee, South Bay, Canal Point, Bryant, Bean City, Lake Harbor, and Chosen.

"Trouble" the recent incident certainly was, for a man who didn't get medical attention when he needed it. But it appears a great deal of good has come out of the airing given to the hospital and medical situation.

We look for considerable improvement because of it.

ED. NOTE: WHEN OBSERVER Reader Valerie Vondermuhl of New York City, wrote of plans for a world-circling vacation, we asked her to record some of her impressions and send them in for publication. She found. What the mail brought this week follows.

Colombo, Ceylon

Only 11 days ago we left Australia but we've seen Hongkong, Bangkok and Singapore and stopped to refuel (which means that we never left the airport) in Indo-China and Indonesia. We have thoroughly enjoyed every minute of the time but feel quite incompetent to pass any real judgment other than a very personal one.

The people we have met and dealt with have been without exception cordial, helpful and interested in our trip. One touch in Hongkong, we were practically the only non-Chinese in the restaurant. We couldn't have gotten more solicitous treatment or had a better meal. Taxi drivers have waited patiently while we scrutinized unimpaired and, fortunately only once, three over-loaded porters accepted, and we realized later was a ridiculously small tip with a wink to each other and an understanding how to us.

Of course there are plenty of strange things and amusing things: unfamiliar fruits, for instance, and startling items on the laundry list such as wrist watches, bandages, staves, stinkies and belts which made us us in the tropics.

Hongkong

Hongkong is a pretty cosmopolitan city—a beautiful spot and as the guide book says, "A shoppers' paradise."

We saw enough of it to sense the contrast between the wealthy Chinese and Westerners and the poor refugees from the mainland; many of whom live in considerable squalor on small sampans in the harbor.

Physically Bangkok is less prepossessing, certainly the city's setting cannot compare with Hongkong, but the people in general seem happier, healthier and cleaner despite the fact that most of them use pretty dirty canal water for everything but drinking. Not only did we see Thai soaping themselves or their clothes in the river waters but they were also scrubbing the outside and inside of boats, trucks, pedicabs and so on.

In Hongkong we saw mostly temporary Western residents, but in Bangkok we were lucky to meet native residents, and semi-permanent Americans, in particular a couple working in a

WASHINGTON — Now that the Watkins committee has completed its work and submitted its findings on the McCarthy Senate resolution, members of the Senate face the duty of voting finally to dispose of this matter when they come back in to session Nov. 8.

I have just completed a thorough study of the committee's report and its recommendations; am prepared to vote to support this committee and I believe that a substantial majority of the Senate will take the same view.

In viewing the findings, I was moved to admiration for this committee for the splendidly judicial and painstakingly thorough manner in which the charges were probed. Having received its assignment from the Senate leadership, and having admittedly performed an outstandingly judicial task, this committee now submits its recommendations in the same calm manner. There appears to me no reasonable course but to accept these findings in like orderly procedure. I am convinced that will be the sense of the Senate.

Having imposed a major trust in the select committee and having seen it perform so nobly, I am confident now that its decisions valid. I would have felt constrained to support their findings even if they had exceeded the subject of the inquiry.

It is my conviction that many senators who will find it painful to vote for the censuring findings will do so as a matter of duty. This will be true for two major reasons. This committee, an official arm of the Senate, was composed of the most objective men the leadership could find—former Supreme Court Justices, former judges, former professors, long-time legislative leaders. Their qualifications were beyond reproach. Individually and as a group, they were perfectly fitted to handle a highly complicated and tremendously important job.

The Watkins committee work was had been expected. Weeks of hearings were held; equal opportunity was had by both sides to be heard; the facts and evidence were sifted and carefully studied and evaluated; studies were carried on in a completely judicial atmosphere. The release of these findings to the public.

In the circumstances, there is no basis for the Senate now to re-hear the case, give labor testimony over all the details of testimony the special committee has had.

This would make meaningless the exhaustive and fine work of the committee.

In case of this kind, the Senate itself becomes a judicial body, under the Constitution. Its principal job now is to weigh the relevant facts as reported by its special judicial committee and cast its vote. In my opinion, the Senate will be ready when assembled on Nov. 8 to decide the issue without great delay.

ON AGAIN: One of the economies instituted in 1953 by the administration which seemed to me highly questionable was the elimination of the federal airports program.

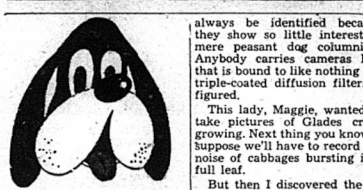

If several others in making a hard bid at the time, unsuccessful fight against this move.

This year, the administration itself finally saw the light and this program again is in effect. Just the other day grants were announced for airports for improvements and enlargements which are important to the nation as well as the communities involved. Florida airports to be improved include Miami International ($300,000), Tampa International ($33,000), Meacham Field, Key West ($130,000), Fannin Field, Panama City ($170,000), Pinellas International ($39,425).

The look of a Chinese junk is "old hat" to navigators, but the skill with which the Thai maneuvered their river craft among the narrow Kongs or canals was quite new to us.

Even unwieldy barges that looked rather like toy Noah's arks slid up and down with ease or crossing the 25-foot stream with dozens of other craft all heading purposefully about their business. There were coffee sellers, butchers, ice cream vendors, coke boats, and as might be expected, kids in miniature versions of the adult boats.

Although this was a market area no one tried to sell us anything even when we stopped to take pictures. Actually in this season the only thing that tempted us (but they were unappealing) was the local hats made of straw and shaped like elegant parlor lampshades. An inside section fits over your head much as the lampshade's wire skeleton, grips the light bulb—unsuitable for New York, we decided.

There is something about the cold eye of a camera lens that makes my blood chill.

Not only that, but every time I look winsome for the camera, I come out as a black form of unknown origin.

It was with considerable surprise that last week I looked in to the lenses of several cameras and didn't feel a thing.

Possibly this was because there was no film in them at the time.

However, I had to live with these cameras. Big things they were, and a mean shade of black only slightly duller than, my coat.

The lady who wielded these cameras was a real wheel, they tell me. Name of Maggie, or Paggi.

In a recent article on proteins, T. J. Thus, one of the most important rules for a cattleman is to make sure his animals get enough protein in their daily diet." Cunha prefers to first buy a protein supplement for winter feeding and then hay or other carbohydrate feeds such as molasses, citrus pulp, corn, hedges, oats, etc.

By BENJAMIN S. ROBERTS

DEAR SHATZI:

"The Georgetownian" is a new weekly newspaper published in the suburb of Washington called Georgetown. Its editor, A. C. Stewart, has about the same like those of Boss No. 1 and Boss No. 2. He said, "Needless to say, a weekly periodical of character will be of satisfaction, information and material benefit to our citizens and business interests. . . ."

... contain news of our citizens' present-day material occurrences and dealings. . . .

That gives you and your colleagues something to live up to responsibilities to the public doesn't it Schatzi?

Supreme Court Justice Jackson's death and that of Grady Norton were announced simultaneously on the late broadcast in Washington last night. Each man had contributed to American life, each figure represented a different quantity and quality in the public scene and it is likely that neither man knew the other.

Jackson's judicial decisions at the Nuremberg trials will undoubtedly live longer in history than many of those in which he participated on the Supreme Court. By outlasting extinction of race as a means of international policy he set a pattern for his work in the trial decisions in Germany that will not soon be forgotten. By leading in decisions which make leadership responsible for its decisions personally as well as officially, he gave future megalomaniacs a clue to their ultimate fate.

Norton, on the other hand, worked entirely in the realm of unpredictable natural phenomena.

Miss Hull, Mr. Nason Wed

MRS. NASON

Miss Walta Nelle Hull and Richard Henry Nason exchanged marriage vows at an impressive single ring ceremony in Pahokee First Baptist Church Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, before a large assembly of relatives and friends.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gibson Hull, 224 Annona Ave., Pahokee, and Mr. Nason is the son of Mrs. Frank Frink, 76 Bacon Point Rd., Pahokee.

Dr. Rembert A. Guy, pastor of Pahokee First Methodist Church officiated. The ceremony was read at the altar banked with palms and four large white baskets of pale pink gladioli. Six candelabra holding tall pink tapers illuminated the setting, and pink candles burned in the window recesses, circled by fern and gladioli blossoms. The pew markers were of shell pink satin ribbon bows. Miss Margaret Powell, pianist, played a program of nuptial music including the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Mrs. Hugh Branch who sang "Because," "O Promise Me," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her nephew, Milton Wilson, wore a gown of white nylon tulle and imported Chantilly lace over satin. The lace bodice was complimented by a shoulder-baring illusion neckline accented with tiny ruffles at the bustline and brief sleeves. The bouffant skirt, with layers of tiered tulle and the cathedral train were enhanced by a scalloped lace peplum which fell in points. Her veil of French illusion was fashioned in four tiers and extended from a headpiece of matching lace with sequin trim. She wore white tulle mitts and a miniature cross of seed pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, and carried a white satin-bound Bible topped with three white orchids from which fell white satin streamers.

Mrs. W. Roscelle Wilson, attended her sister as matron of honor, and wore a shell pink taffeta and nylon tulle gown designed with a tucked bodice and full skirt that featured a back panel of taffeta. A matching shrug jacket, pink tulle mitts and headpiece with a face veil completed her costume. She carried an arm bouquet of "Better Times" red roses tied with wide white satin ribbon.

The bridesmaid was Miss Dorothy Chastain and bridesmaids included three other sisters of the bride, Mrs. Wallace Barnes, Mrs. Ellis Wilkinson and Mrs. Charles Wilkinson, also Mrs. William Cochrane of Dade City, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Lusink of Orlando, a sorority sister of the bride. All wore gowns identical in design and color to that of Mrs. Wilson, with pink mitts and carried arm bouquets of red roses tied with matching satin ribbons.

Wilhoit Tyson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Tyson, jr., a niece of the bridegroom, and Ginger Willis, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Willis, were flower girls. Their floor length dresses were of shell pink tulle and tulle, designed on lines similar to that of the other attendants. They carried pink baskets filled with deep pink rose petals. Randy Wilkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilkinson, a nephew of the bride, wore a white suit and carried a white satin pillow bearing the bride's wedding ring.

Will A. Nason, West Palm Beach, attended his brother as best man. Edgar Wilder and the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Dr. F. H. Foteete of New Orleans, William Cochrane of Dade City, James Halbrook, Belle Glade, William Moss, and James Tyson served as ushers.

Mrs. Hull, the bride's mother, wore a gown of French blue lace and tulle over taffeta, designed with a lace bodice with folds of tulle covering the shoulder. She wore a matching sequin-trimmed hat and shoes of blue, with white elbow length gloves and a purple orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Friend, wore ashes of roses nylon tulle and Chantilly lace studded with rhinestones, matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. A table covered with a lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered white wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom, was encircled with fern and clusters of sweetheart roses; silver candleholders held white tapers. Mrs. J. L. Tyson, jr. and Mrs. J. P. Halbrook, sisters of the bridegroom, served the cake.

At the punch bowls in the covered patio were Mrs. Edgar Wilder and Mrs. David Unwin. Mrs. William Moss, also a sister of Mr. Nason, presided at the guest book in the living room. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hester, Tampa; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wiggins, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Parham, Mr. and Mrs. James Lusink, Orlando; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moody, Mrs. Leda Alderman and Miss Wilma Wiggins, Plant City; Mrs. Joyce McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clark, Mrs. J. O. Johnson and Mrs. Ethel Haley, Lakeland; Mrs. H. C. White, Savannah, Ga.; Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Foteete of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. William Cochrane, Dade City.

AN OPEN LETTER TO PARENTS:

You, better than anyone else in Palm Beach County, know how well your children were protected under our student accident plan during the last school year. In spite of this record, your school board saw fit to disqualify our company and our plan and ask you to accept companies and plans which you do not know.

Our plan actually offers more benefits than the plans you are asked to accept, but still our company has been disqualified. This action has hurt the integrity of our company and our duly licensed agent, Mr. William A. Thiebaud of Belle Glade.

We actually paid more in medical payments on the injuries of your children than we received in premiums, yet we were willing to continue to offer this excellent protection for your children for the coming school year. But your school board says you cannot have our plan.

Is this fair?
